LOOKING FOR NEWS.

The City of Peking, Bearing Hawaiian News, is Due.

Secretary Gresham Says That He is Not Yet in Receipt of the Papers Carried by the Corwin.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—The Pacific Mail Steamship company's steamer, City of Peking, is due from Hong Kong and Yokohoma via Honolulu, brings the latest news of the Hawaiian situation. The Pacific Mail officials say that they do not expect the steamer until tonight.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Secretary of State Gresham was seen by a representative of the Associated Press and he consented to answer some hurried questions adressed to him in reply to the query: "Will you say anything new about Honolulu," he said: "I do not know any news from Honolulu. I expect to receive dispatches that come by the Corwin, perhaps to night. I shall have no official information before that time."

"Will these dispatches be given to the public when you receive them?"

"They will be transmitted immediately to congress. I hardly think they will be given out to the press before the hour when they are taken to congress. Every instruction that has been sent to Minister Willis is now in the hands of congress. Whatever further dispatches are sent to him will be put into the hands of congress in duplicate immediately upon being sent."

"The matter has then been put entirely in the hands of congress, has it, Mr. Secretary?"

"Undoubtedly."

There was nothing in the secretary's manner to indicate any feeling of regret that the matter had reached this status, and it is made evident that the administration has no intention of proceeding further with the question except with the advice of congress.

Representative Holman (dem., Ind.) has prepared a resolution which he will submit to the house tomorrow, declaring it to be the policy of the United States to conclude a treaty with Hawaii by which the country will exercise a protectorate over the islands.

DEMOCRATS MEET

To Name the Pennsylvania Congressman at Large.

Hon. James Hutton Hancock, of Franklin, to Be Nominated by Acclamation.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 10.—The state democratic convention for the nomination of a candidate for congressman at large, was called to order shortly after 12 o'clock today, by ex-Congressman Gillespie, of Mercer. The officers and the commissioners of the September convention retained their old places.

The committee on resolutions then retired to the Commonwealth hotel to prepare the platform. During the wait, the delegates and spectators stocked and listened to the music of a brass band stationed in the gallery.

On the return of the committee, Cheisman Herring, of Columbia county, mounted the platform and read the resolutions to the convention. They were enthusiastically received and adopted with loud cheers and applause. Following the adoption of the platform, John Sullivan, of Pittsburg, offered a resolution that 10,000 copies be printed for distribution among the workmen of Pennsylvania. This gave Attorney General Hensil and James M. Beck, of Philadelphia, an opportunity to make stirring speeches endorsing the resolutions.

B. B. Cotter, of McKean, presented the name of James Selton Hancock, of Franklin, for the nomination of congressman at large. The nomination was seconded by Samuel C. Wagner, of Cumberland, and Mr. Hancock was nominated by acclamation.

Mr. Hancock entered the convention and was enthusiastically received. He made a strong speech endorsing the platform and accepted the nomination. Convention adjourned at 2:30.

OFFERED AT PUBLIC MARKET.

Woman Vender Tries to Dispose of an Infant Left Upon Her Hands.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 10.—The unusual spectacle of an infant being offered for sale at a market stand was witnessed here yesterday, when Mrs. Jackman, an elderly woman who has a stand at the east market, offered to dispose of a two-months-old babe to her customers. She said that the child was born to a young woman who gave her name as May Lewis and her home as Chicago and who said that the name of the child's father was Rothchild. The child was born at her house, and as she had brought up eleven children of her own, she did not care to undertake the rearing of another. The mother paid two weeks' board for the child and then disappeared, and Mrs. Jackman said that she had brought the babe to the market in hopes of finding a home for it. A large crowd assembled about the stand and finally attracted the attention of the police. When an officer approached, a woman offered to take the babe and care for it, and it was turned over to her, but an hour later she returned with the babe, saying her husband would not let her keep it. Mrs. Jackman still has the baby.

TRIAL POSTPONED.

Illinois Central Train Robbers Sent Back to Jail.

PADUCAH, Ky., Jan. 10.—The case against Jack Breckenridge, William O'Brien and William Brown, recently indicted by the Ballard county grand jury for the Sentwall, Illinois Central train robbery, has been continued until the next term of court by the defendants. Brown has turned state's evidence. The others are in jail.

BIG FAILURE.

W. F. Beck & Company Make an Assignment.

The Unfortunate Firm Heavy Dealers in Canned Goods—Liabilities Exceed the Assets.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—W. F. Beck & Co., commission merchants handling chiefly salmon and canned fruits, have assigned. The scheduled liabilities are $513,513, and a member of the firm says the amount may reach a much greater sum. The Wells Fargo bank is the heaviest creditor, holding claims of $164,000. Three other banks in this city hold claims aggregating $82,000. The bulk of the remainder is due to local merchants and creditors in Honolulu and several interior counties in New York.

Mr. Beck says the individual members will sacrifice personal property to make good the loss and that creditors will be paid in full. Walter T. Beck Robert H. Simpson and Edgar A. Cohen compose the firm. The company recently lost $95,000 through embezzlement of a trusted clerk.

It is stated that the liabilities of the firm will foot up $750,000. The failure is due to the practical collapse of the raisin market, the low price of salmon and inability to dispose of large quantities of canned goods which have accumulated in the warehouses. The firm had made heavy advances to farmers and orchardists and has been unable to sell fruit crops. The banks which had before given credit as high as $200,000 refused to advance a dollar beyond the limit of securities which the firm could offer. The bank claims are all secured. The Pacific Steam Whaling company hold a claim for $26,000.

Beck & Co. have branch establishments in Chicago and New York and in every large city of the United States, as well as London, Marseilles and other European cities. It owns three salmon canneries on Puget Sound, is the largest stockholder in the Capital Packing company, of Sacramento, and owns the Van Alen cannery at Healdsburg and a smaller one at Los Gatos. It has ice lands by the hundreds of realms in Fresno and has in its warehouses and premises in this city and elsewhere vast quantities of canned fruits and salmon. The stock on hand consists the principal available assets of the firm.

THE DEATH SENTENCE

Passed Upon Bomb Thrower Auguste Vaillant.

He is Brought Into Court and Receives the Sentence in Silence—The Court Guarded by Soldiers.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—The trial of Auguste Vaillant, the anarchist, who on December 9 last threw the bomb which exploded into the chamber of deputies, was commenced today. Just previous to the trial a report was circulated that a bomb with a burned fuse was found outside the court. The place of justice, in which the trial took place, was surrounded by guards and nobody was allowed to pass through their ranks, unless presenting a pass and not until their identity had been fully established. The court was thronged with people when Vaillant was brought in at noon, closely guarded by policemen. The opening proceedings were of a purely formal nature. At the conclusion of the proceedings today Vaillant was sentenced to death.

THROUGH THE HEAD.

Crashes a Bullet Directed by His Own Hand.

Cashier B. A. Baker Broods Over Business Affairs Until Insanity Prompts Suicide.

NORWALK, Ohio, Jan. 10.—D. A. Baker, cashier of the First National bank, committed suicide this morning. He shot himself through the right temple and heart. He had been connected with the bank for twenty-five years. The cause of his act is supposed to be the result of brooding over the supposition that he would sever his connection with the bank under a recent re-organization. His accounts are said to be perfectly straight.

DEADLY FEUD.

Four Killed Outright and the Others Wounded.

The Trouble Arose Out of the Killing of the Two Heads of the Family Some Years Ago.

SALTILLO, Mex., Jan. 9.—A bloody battle has occurred at Cuantro Ilos, the result of an old feud between the Velasco and Fajanova families. The heads of the two families were killed in the beginning. Since then three Velasco and two Fanjora sons have been killed, leaving three on each side. Yesterday the six men met and a revolver duel was fought, resulting in the killing of two on each side and the serious wounding of the other.

Another Departure.

The Markel, 4 and 6 Harrison street, has added another department to their department store, that is a bakery. They will handle everything in the bakery line. This makes six departments in this establishment; grocery department, meat department, fruit department, butter and egg department and bakery department and poultry department.

PIANO WORKS BURNED.

The Starr Piano Works at Richmond, Ind., Destroyed.

Narrow Escape of Imprisoned Miners in a California Mine at Grass Valley.

RICHMOND, Ind., Jan. 10.—The Starr Piano works were entirely destroyed by fire this morning. The immense building burned like tinder and all the department worked on the fire without being able to do much toward suppressing it. The loss is $100,000 with an insurance of $30,000. It was a stock concern with Joseph Lumsden, of St. Louis, president. The works will probably be rebuilt. One hundred men will be rendered idle.

GRASS VALLEY, Cala., Jan. 10.—Late last night fire broke out in the hoisting works of the Idaho Maryland mines imprisoning seventy-eight miners 2,000 feet below the surface. The wildest excitement prevailed throughout the town. The miners finally escaped by climbing 2,000 feet up a perpendicular air shaft. Two hours had elapsed before the last man reached the surface, and the men were almost exhausted. The loss to the hoisting works will be $75,000.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 10.—In a fire this morning 1,500 bales of cotton were destroyed.

WEST UNION, Ia., Jan. 10.—Fire this morning in a row of frame buildings caused a loss of $16,000, with $8,000 insurance. There were ten buildings, including the Commercial hotel, and they are a total loss.

STARTLING STATEMENT.

Mrs. Franch Tells of Armed Anarchists at a Bull Fight.

The Wounds of the Lieze Bomb Fiend Will Prove Fatal, so Says His Physician.

MADRID, Jan. 10.—Despatches from Saragossa say that the physician in attendance upon Salvador Franch, the confessed perpetrator of the Lieze theatre bomb outrage, who twice attempted suicide when he was arrested, so severely wounding himself that his recovery is now doubtful. Though informed as to his condition, Franch refused the offices of a chaplain who was sent to him by Cardinal Benaiirdo. Franch still warmly upholds anarchy. The wife of Franch has made the additional statement that her husband was present at a famous anarchist meeting in the bull ring of Barcelona, when all the conspirators were armed with bombs, revolvers, axes and knives, and prepared to sack the town and destroy the bourgeoise.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

Two Boys Fight for the Honor of a Girl's Company.

Will Duke Kills John West and the Latter's Friends Maintain by Simply Killing Duke.

TUSCUMBIA, Ala., Jan. 10.—Last night just after church services, John West and Will Duke, mere youths, quarreled over who should take a certain girl home. In the girl's presence Duke tore a paling from a fence and felled West with it, afterwards beating his brains out, killing him almost instantly. Duke fled, pursued by West's friends, who caught him and, after fatally beating him, were about to string him up, but were prevented by officers, who took Duke to jail, where he now lies in a dying condition.

BAPTISTS AND CHRISTIANS UNITE.

Will Form an Organization Under the Name of the Latter.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 10.—A great deal of interest has been aroused among local ministers by the announcement that Dr. Kerr Tupper, pastor of the First Baptist church of Denver, had made the startling announcement in the minister's meeting that in a short time the Baptist and Christian denominations of the world will be united under the name of the latter, and the conference looking to that end is now pending. His statement was fully substantiated here today, and it develops that the scheme of consolidation has progressed secretly to a point that makes its consummation probable. Rev. Dr. Lucas, Christian, said today:

"The question of unification is the most serious and absorbing of all topics that are being discussed by Christians and Baptists today. Many conferences have been held of late looking to the fusion of the two denominations. It has only been recently, however, that anything in the way of practical results has been obtained and I am now confident that the proposed union, which means so much to all religions, will be effected before long. The statement of Dr. Tupper is correct. There is not much essential difference between the Baptist and Christian beliefs and the two denominations could easily harmonize. Baptism by immersion is the only serious point in the controversy."

Indiana is the stronghold of the Christian denomination.

WANDERED AWAY.

Severe Fears Entertained Concerning the Fate of a Preacher.

FORT DODGE, Ia., Jan. 10.—Rev. J. H. Avery, Methodist minister here, left on Friday to hold a protracted meeting at Dayton, this county, but instead of stopping there he bought a ticket to Boone, where all trace of him is lost and all efforts fail to locate him. The supposition is that while temporary insane he wandered away. His wife is prostrated with grief.

A FOUL MURDER.

William Murphy's Testimony in the Howley Case.

He Says Hart Was Sorry He Had Not Killed His Old Mother Twenty Years Ago.

The post mortem examination held yesterday afternoon over the remains of the late Mrs. Howley resulted in some startling disclosures.

The examination was conducted by Drs. Porter, Greenawalt, Gard and Coroner Harrod.

It was found that the unfortunate woman had met a violent death and that the injuries, which were discovered could not have resulted from the fall which the woman received in the yard.

TERRIBLY INVESTIGATED.

The examination lasted four hours and every inch of the body was examined. There was a small bruise on the nose, one on the left arm, one on the left cheek and two bruises on the top of the head. None of these were very bad and were not sufficient to account for death. The abdomen was bruised in several places and the abdominal cavity was opened for examination. There was found the cause of Mrs. Howley's death as predicted in yesterday evening's issue. There had been an internal hemorrhage. Over three pints of blood were taken from the cavity before the examination could proceed.

FEARFUL INJURIES.

When this was accomplished it was found that the spleen, situated on the left side, had been ruptured and torn. Six ribs on this side were either fractured or torn from the spinal column. On the right side the right kidney had been ruptured in a way similar to the spleen. On this side there were two ribs broken in. Dr. Porter stated that the immediate cause of her death was internal hemorrhage, caused by the rupture of the spleen and kidney. He stated that one blow of a man's bost would be unable to produce these injuries.

THE INQUEST.

Coroner Harrod began the inquest in his office in the court house at 10 o'clock this morning. A number of witnesses were examined but the most important was Wm. Murphy.

MURPHY'S TESTIMONY.

The testimony of Murphy, the only eye witness of the real tragedy, was most damaging to Martin Howley and clearly fixes the crime of matricide upon him. The examination is as follows:

Q.—State your name.

A.—William Murphy.

Q.—State, Mr. Murphy, how long you have been boarding at the Howley residence?

A.—Since about the 13th of October last, the last time I boarded there before this time.

Q.—State whether or not you were there last Monday, January 8?

A.—I was Monday morning, ate my breakfast and dinner, and returned at about 5:30, I should think it was.

Q.—When you returned in the evening what unusual did you notice about the place?

A.—I did not notice anything unusual, but I saw Mrs. Howley she seemed to be trying to put the key in the lock of the summer kitchen door. Mr. Howland was standing at the right hand side of her with a shovel in his hand. I went right into the kitchen and set my dinner bucket on the table and came back to the wash bench to wash my hands. Mrs. Howley reached me the key of the woodshed and told me to hang it on the nail, and also to light the lamps and help her a little she wanted to hurry up and get supper, and she turned back and went to the summer kitchen. I lit the gas jet and went back to the little room where Mrs. Howley reached me the key and took the lamp from there into the kitchen and filled it with coal oil. Martin came in and asked where the old woman was; I said she was out there somewhere, then Martin asked Aunty McTigue where she was. I do not know what answer Aunty made him, I did not quite understand it. Martin went out and I saw no more of him then. I lit the lamp and put it back on the nail and started a fire in the wood stove, and before I had the fire started Mrs. Howley came to the door and asked me to help her in. She says: "Try and help me to the rocking chair and go out and make peace with Martin and Holland, they are fighting in the summer kitchen." I went and tried to help her in, and she seemed to be very helpless. I says: "Where shall I set you, Mrs. Howley?" She says: "In the front room on the rocking chair." I was helping her along the best I could toward the rocking chair, when Martin run up and caught hold of her by the throat with one hand and struck her with the other.

Q.—Where did he strike her?

A.—I could not swear where he struck her. I let go of Mrs. Howley. She fell and I grabbed Martin, and while I had hold of Martin he used his feet and kicked her twice.

Q.—State what part of the body he kicked her.

A.—Between the shoulders.

Q.—After he had kicked her in the back, what next was done?

A.—I pushed him back the best I could and told him, "Do not kill her."

Q.—At that time state whether or not he did not go back and kick her two or three times more.

A.—I pushed him back the best I could; he then struck her twice.

Q.—State what, if anything, Martin Howley said to you at that time.

A.—You ——— ———, if you do not let me alone I will kill you.

Q.—State whether or not after that you saw him kick her.

A.—Yes, I saw him kick her after that.

Q.—State how many times he kicked her.

A.—He got in one kick before I grabbed him and we had another tussle and he got away from me and kicked her again.

Q.—What, if anything, did he do to old Aunty McTigue at that time?

A.—He threw her out of his way.

Q.—Please state the age of Aunty McTigue.

A.—I think I heard them say she is eighty years of age. She is a very old woman.

Q.—State what next took place?

A.—Well, after that I got him in the sitting room and I thought everything was quiet then, and I did not know Mrs. Howley was hurt as bad as she was, and let him go, and he got the butcher knife and run out doors and around the house hunting for Holland and said he would "kill the ——— ———"

Q.—State whether or not you had any conversation with Mart in relation to the attack on his mother?

A.—He said: "I wish I had killed her twenty (20) years ago."

Q.—Did Mart help any of you to take or put her to bed at the time of her injuries?

A.—No, Mart did not.

Q.—Was Mart present at the time the old lady was put in the bed?

A.—Yes, he was present.

Q.—Did anyone request him to go for a doctor?

A.—Someone requested him to go for a doctor, but he refused to do it.

Q.—At the time Mart Howley came in and caught his mother by the throat with one hand and struck her with the other, did you then let go of Mrs. Howley?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Did she fall or remain on her feet?

A.—She fell.

Q.—Did you then put your arms around Martin's body to hold him from any further attack?

A.—I did.

MRS. HOWLEY'S FUNERAL

It Is To Be Held Tomorrow Morning.

Death of Mrs. Celia Medore, One of Allen County's Early Settlers—Little Items Culled.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Howley will be held tomorrow morning from the Cathedral at 9:30 o'clock.

HIDDEN.

Mrs. Charles A. Hedges, aged seventy-five, a well known and highly respected lady, died at her home at No. 328 West Main street, at 4 o'clock this morning. No time has been set for the funeral.

BURIED.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Gerard, of Grand Rapids, died Monday. The little one was only two weeks old. Mr. Gerard is a brother of Messe Mary and Wiltie Gerard, of this city.

BLOOMERS.

Hazel, the six-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bloemker, 202 Broadway, died yesterday morning of bronchitis. The funeral was held at 2:30 o'clock today from the residence.

PENSION AGENT.

Applicants at Washington Hunting for the Position.

The Indianapolis Sentinel's dispatch from Washington says: "With due respect to all aspirants for Indiana pension agent, it is conceded the Mr. McNagny's man, M. V. B. Spencer, has by far the lead, and if no question is raised as to the time of his service in the army he will be likely to get the appointment. If this here him there will be a merry time before another winner is picked. Mr. Spencer is here, as also is Elza T. Stringer, another resident of Fort Wayne, who wants the place. Mr. Stringer was captain in the Fifteenth Ohio.

"Fort Wayne has other candidates in Milton Thompson, Dr. Norman Teele and Capt. Charles Reese. Mr. Thompson served in the Eighty-eighth Indiana and lost a leg at Resaca. He served four years. Dr. Teale was a surgeon in the same regiment. He was also a member of the state legislature for two terms. Captain Reese served three years in the army and was seriously injured in the eye by a ball which he carried for several years.

Postoffice Robbed.

LAMARS, Iowa, Dec. 10.—The post office at this place was robbed last night. About $50 in cash and $300 in stamps were taken.

A Bad Memory.

Mr. Norris (as his wife sits on his lap)—Don't, my dear. You forget we've been married for ten years.

Mrs. Norris—And don't you ever forget that, too?

Mr. Norris (with a sigh)—No, never.

Mrs. Norris—Then, why were you flirting with that Miss Darlington all the afternoon?

THE CITY'S NEW MAYOR.

Henry P. Scherer Elected by the Council to That Office.

They Choose One of Their Own Number to Serve Out the Unexpired Term of Mayor.

When the city council convened in regular session last night at 7:30 o'clock every seat within and without the council inclosure proper was taken and men thronged the aisles and crowded the entrance to the chamber to see and hear what was to be done, for it was known that at the meeting the city fathers would elect a mayor to serve out the unexpired term of Mayor Zollinger, whom death had removed from the chief executive office of the city.

There were nineteen councilmen present, the absent member being Col. C. B. Oakley, who had been called to Fremont, Ohio, on important legal business and found it impossible to return in time for the meeting. The reporters' table was crowded, representatives from every paper in the city being there to report the proceedings, and Call R. Higgins and Will Wilson were among them to mar the picture, which otherwise would have been a handsome one had the photographer's camera been turned on the busy pencil pushers.

Councilman Cody, the acting president of the body, called the council to order and for nearly an hour the impatient crowd was kept waiting while a mass of routine and unimportant business was transacted. It was about 8:30 when the last necessary measure was disposed of and then Councilman W. D. Meyer arose and moved that the council proceed to the election of a mayor. This created a stir of excitement all over the room and the waiting spectators, the reporters at the table and even the councilmen gave a sigh of relief, for they knew that the tug of war was about to commence.

Mr. Meyer's motion was passed unanimously, and then Councilman Hazard moved that Councilmen Busk and Hanna be appointed tellers, but the chair took the matter out of his hands and appointed W. D. Meyer and H. B. Hanna to receive and count the votes.

Immediately two or three councilmen were on their feet to name their candidates, but the council thought it was not necessary to make the nominations, and Chairman Cody cut the proceedings short with the matter of fact, blunt and business decree, "All right, go ahead."

It was quick work to take the vote, each councilman dropping his ballot as the tellers passed around among them, Councilman Scherer's face, throughout all the ballots, wearing a confident look as if he knew from the very start that he was to be declared the man who would be chosen to occupy the chair in which Mayor Zollinger had sat for so long while presiding over the destinies of the city.

During the first three ballots the eight republican councilmen voted for one of the members of their own ranks dividing the compliment first with Oakley, then with Skelton and then with Wolf, and going to McClelland, Kelker, Pettit and DeVilbiss on the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh ballots, with five votes, when the latter announced that led to the end of the unpretty fight. The record of these ballots tell the story and they are given in detail as follows:

FIRST BALLOT.

Henry P. Scherer, 4.
Christian Bossker, 7.
C. B. Oakley, 7.
Morris Cody, 1.

SECOND BALLOT.

Scherer, 5.
Bossker, 5.
Cody, 2.
B. W. Skelton, 7.

THIRD BALLOT.

Scherer, 5.
Bossker, 4.
Cody, 2.
Paul E. Wolf, 7.
P. J. Scheid, 1.

FOURTH BALLOT.

Scherer, 7.
Bossker, 4.
Cody, 2.
A. Kelker, 5.
W. L. Pettit, 1.

FIFTH BALLOT.

Scherer, 5; Bossker, 8; Cody, 2; Pettit, 5; Kelker, 1.

SIXTH BALLOT.

Scherer, 9; Bossker, 4; Thomas DeVilbiss, 6

As the tellers were preparing for the seventh ballot, Councilman Cody said: "Those who have votes for me will please quit doing so, as I am not a candidate."

THE SEVENTH BALLOT.

The seventh ballot was then taken by the tellers, read by them and announced as follows:

Scherer—10.
Bossker—5.
McClelland—5.

The spectators and only one or two of the councilmen had noticed that there were too many votes, twenty in all, as more than there were councilmen present, but the newspaper reporters at the table saw the error. The crowd in the council chamber, believing that Scherer was then elected, sent up a cheer, and Chairman Cody arose.

"Gentlemen," he said, "Mr. Scherer having received the majority of the votes cast, I declare ——"

"Hold on, hold on," said Councilman Michael, arising at his desk. "There is some mistake about this. It is wrong. There are only nineteen members present, and twenty votes have been cast on this ballot."

The words of Councilman Michael produced considerable excitement and confusion, and an investigation showed that twenty votes had been cast. Mr. Cody, convinced that there was an error, said immediately: "Prepare your votes for another ballot," and the seventh ballot was taken over again, resulting as follows:

Scherer—7.
Bossker—6
H. B. Hanna—6.

The eighth ballot was ordered by the chair and it was then that the republican members, broke, dropped supporting one of their number and voted for Scherer, the eighth and last ballot resulting as follows:

EIGHTH BALLOT.

Scherer—13.
Bossker—6.

Those who knew best say that Mr. Scherer received the votes of the following councilmen:

H. B. Hanna (republican.)
W. L. Pettit (republican.)
W. H. McClelland (republican.)
Paul E. Wolf (republican.)
B. W. Skelton (republican.)
Anthony Kelker (republican.)
Chas. Busk, (democrat.)
H. P. Scherer (democrat.)
Louis Hazzard, (democrat.)
Phillip Keintz, (democrat.)
James Conroy, (democrat.)
Maurice Cody, (democrat.)
Wm. Meyer, Jr., (democrat.)

The following councilmen voted for Mr. Bossker:

Herman Michael, (democrat.)
Peter Eggemann, (democrat.)
W. D. Meyer, (democrat.)
P. J. Scheid, (democrat.)
Thos. DeVilbiss, (republican.)
F. C. Meyer, (democrat.)

The crowd present in the council chamber again set up a cheer, and Councilman Scherer received pleasantly the congratulations of those who were standing near him.

As soon as City Clerk Rudy C. Heinzwald had announced the result of the last ballot Chairman Cody said: "I declare Mr. Scherer duly elected." Again the crowd cheered and in response to loud calls Mr. Scherer came forward to the desk and Mr. Cody introduced him as "the next mayor of Fort Wayne."

"Gentlemen," said Mr. Scherer, after bowing to the ovation he received as he took the stand, "you have been having lots of fun here tonight. I thank the council for the honor they have conferred upon me, and I hope I will do my duty as the chief executive officer of the city."

The council immediately adjourned and many of the members and many of the spectators in the audience pressed forward to shake hands and exchange a few words with the new mayor of Fort Wayne.

Mayor-elect Henry P. Scherer is thirty-nine years old. He was born in this city on the 1st of September, 1854, and attended, during his boyhood days, the St. Paul German Lutheran schools, where he received his education. When twenty-two years of age, in 1876, he went west and resided at different times in Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico, remaining for thirteen years. He was county commissioner of Colfax county, New Mexico, for two years, but resigned that office before his term expired and removed back to Fort Wayne and engaged in business, being at the present time one of the owners and proprietors of the City Carriage works. He was elected councilman from the Eighth ward in 1891, and has been an active member of that body. Mayor Scherer resides at 123 Maumee avenue and has a pleasant family, consisting of Mrs. Scherer and three children, one boy and two girls.

MAYOR TAKES THE OATH.

At 9:30 o'clock, the newly elected mayor, with his bondsmen, J. F. W. Meyer and Charles McCulloch, entered the county clerk's office and took the oath of office, which was administered to him by Deputy Clerk Harry Metzger. He swore in his affirmation to support the constitution of the United States and the state of Indiana, to honestly and faithfully execute the laws and discharge his duties as mayor of Fort Wayne. His bond was given in the sum of $5,000.

ENTERS ON HIS DUTIES.

After taking the oath of office Mayor Scherer went direct to the mayor's office, where his first official acts were the signing of the vouchers for the bills which were allowed at the meeting of the city council last night.

He spent nearly all of the morning in his office, and here THE SENTINEL representative found him busily engaged at his work. He said he did not know just yet what his plans for the future would be as he had not yet arranged his business at the carriage works, but that he would give the mayor's office his time and attention and do his whole duty. The holding of police court was another matter that he had not fully decided. The law gives him the power to appoint a justice of the peace to perform these duties and this Mayor Scherer may be compelled to do. The new mayor is one of the most pleasant of gentlemen and has had a busy time today shaking hands with his many friends.

SHOT A BURGLAR.

Mr. Shuster, of Bloomingdale, Handy With a Revolver.

He Caught Two Men Breaking Into His Grocery Store and Fired Upon Them—One Hit.

Two burglars came near getting captured last night, about 12 o'clock, in Bloomingdale.

J. H. W. Shaefer keeps a grocery store on a lot between West Third street and High street. He lives just back of the grocery. About midnight Mr. Shaefer heard some unusual noises in the vicinity of the grocery and got up to investigate. He first, however, very properly armed himself with a big revolver. He then went out into the yard. Working at the door of the grocery he saw two burglar, who also saw him about the same time. The two house breakers took to their heels and Mr. Shaefer after them. The burglars were very fleet of foot and were rapidly escaping when Mr. Shaefer up with his gun and fired two shots at the fugitives. One of the men was seen to stagger, and it was supposed he was hit hard, but he never slackened his speed, and there seems to be no dead burglars about anywhere this morning.

The two men are supposed to be the same who have been operating in this city all winter. Their work has been confined mostly to small stores in the suburbs.

SMALLPOX IN CHICAGO.

Many Cases of the Scourge in That City.

Patients Removed to the Pest House and Many of Them Die From the Disease.

Letters received in this city show that smallpox exists in Chicago to a large extent. Many of the cases are of the worst kind, being of the type known as the "black" smallpox and some of the patients are dying from it. When taken sick they are removed to the pest house where they are not allowed to be seen by their friends, and do not know of their death until after they are dead and buried. The dreadful malady is breaking out in the stores there and in some of them two or three of the clerks are down with the disease. In one family three of the children were taken ill and removed to the pest house, where the parents were not allowed to see them, and later, on inquiring as to how they were getting along, were informed that they were dead and buried. The Chicago papers do not say anything about the malady, refusing perhaps to mention it for fear it will keep people away from the city. The dreadful disease, however, is raging there to an alarming extent.

Saturday, January 13th.

In the large building, No. 34 East Columbia street, begins the greatest Panic Assignee Sale ever held in the United States. Two large stocks of Clothing, Furnishing Goods and Hats from two factories recently failed in New York and shipped to Fort Wayne, must be closed out at one-third of appraised value in ten days. This great Panic Slaughter Sale is under the control of the Famous New York Salvage, Wreckage, Bond and Security Company, whose honesty and square dealing is above reproach. Don't fail to attend this great Sacrifice Sale, as such a chance for Real Bargains only comes once in a lifetime. A few sample prices: Men's all wool suits, worth $11.00, only $3.75; men's fine Cassimere suits, worth $15.50, only $5.74; men's fine dress suits, worth $18.50, only $6.98; men's fine Corkscrew suits, worth $22.50, only $9.03; men's stylish pants, worth $6.00, only $1.74; men's all wool pants, worth $3.00 only 99c; boys' wool suits, worth $5.75, only $2.24; children's suits, worth $2.25, only 85c; men's fine stylish hats, worth $3.50, only 88c; men's fine dress shirts, worth $1.50, only 48c; men's wool underwear, worth $2.00, only 74c a suit. There are thousands of different styles and qualities in men's suits in Clay Worsteds Cabriots in domestic and foreign fabrics in Sacks, Frocks, Prince Alberts, single and double breasted, too numerous to mention, at proportionately low prices. 5,000 men's, boys' and children's overcoats, from $1.00 and upwards. All goods marked in plain figures, strictly one price and no deviation. The building is now closed to arrange the Great Panic Assignee Sale, which begins Saturday, January 13, at 9:45 a. m. Look for the Red Sign "Panic Sale," No. 32 East Columbia street, next door to Morgan & Beach hardware store.

HARPER'S WEEKLY.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Weekly is beyond a question the leading journal in America, in its splendid illustrations, in its corps of distinguished contributors, and in its vast army of readers. In special lines, it draws on the highest order of talent, the men best fitted by position and training to treat the leading topics of the day. In fiction, the most popular story-writers contribute to its columns. Superb drawings by the foremost artists illustrate its special articles, its stories, and every notable event of public interest; it contains portraits of the distinguished men and women who are making the history of the time, while special attention is given to the Army and Navy, Amateur Sport, and Music and the Drama, by distinguished experts. In a word, Harper's Weekly combines the news features of the daily paper and the artistic and literary qualities of the magazine with the solid critical character of the review.

Judicious advertising is the key to success in business. There is no better medium for reaching the public than through the newspaper, and there is no better newspaper than The Sentinel through which to make known what the merchant has to sell.

A colored patriarch died at Moberly last week at the age of 104, who asserted that he was the father of seventy-six children. This claim appears, on its face, to be more or less apochryphal, but it must be remembered that Missouri is a wonderful country.

The director of the mint, in his annual report of the monetary circulation of the principal nations, puts the gold circulation of the world at $3,901,900,000, and that of silver at $3,931,100,000. In the report which he made a year ago the gold circulation was shown to be $3,583,605,000 and the silver $4,042,700,000. This reveals an increase in the year of $318,295,000 in gold in the countries included in the report, and a decrease of $111,600,000 in silver.

Adjutant General Robbins has had prepared a blank and book, in accordance with the act of March 11, 1889, for the record and enrollment of all soldiers now residing in this state, who were engaged in any war. Included in the list will be the names of widows and orphans under sixteen years old. The blanks are being mailed to the clerk and auditor of each county. The enrollment will be prepared by these officials from the reports of the township assessors of next April.

A catalogue of the books selected by the American Library association, to form the model library, is expected to be issued by the Bureau of Education within a month. It was compiled by members of the association, and the interior department assumed the expense of publication. The volume consists of about 400 pages, and embraces two plans of classification, the Dewey and Cutter systems. It includes 5,382 volumes in the model library. The expenses of these is estimated at $12,125. The books are classified as follows: Biography 636, fiction 808, general work, 227, philosophy 96, religion 220, sociology 424, languages 108, natural science 355, useful arts 269, fine arts 225, literature 694, history 756, and travel 4,122.

The members of the state board of tax commissioners are considering the advisability of calling a conference of all the county assessors for March 14 and 15 in Indianapolis. In order to ascertain if such a conference would be agreeable to the different counties, the secretary of the board has been sending out circular letters stating the object of the meeting and asking for suggestions as to the advisability of holding it. Replies thus far received are all favorable to the conference. The purpose of the meeting is to reach an agreement, so far as practicable, upon a uniform rate of personal assessment, and to discuss the many imperfectly understood sections of the general tax law. The delegates to the conference are expected to pay their expenses out of their county's treasury.

Our New Mayor.

For years it has been the aim of The Sentinel to place in the mayor's chair a man who would think enough of his oath to enforce the laws of our city and not let one class of men continue to violate them and conduct their business just about as they pleased. We wanted a man for mayor who the people would look up to as one who had the best interests of the city at heart, and who could at all times and under all circumstances be relied upon to conduct the affairs of the city not for the classes but for the masses.

While the new mayor was not our candidate we will from this time on give him our cordial support, and the only thing that will turn us away from him will be when we see that he is not doing his duty as mayor.

Mr. Scherer is a man of good business ability, good education and enjoys the esteem and respect of all who know him. We hope that he will make a mayor that the people will be proud of and keep himself out of the clutches of bob-tail politicians.

American Newspapers.

Some figures compiled from Rowell's Newspaper Directory show the marvelous growth in periodical literature in this country since 1871. An idea of the relative rapidity with which the newspaper has gained on the population may be gathered by a comparison of the population's increase with that of newspapers in the last decade. Comparing the figures of the population for 1880 and 1890, we find that the population of the United States increased in that time some 25 per cent. The figures in the Newspaper Directory show that in the same period the number of newspapers in the country increased more than 74 per cent. Back in 1871—Jan. 1—there were in the states and territories only 591 daily papers, all told. Jan. 1, 1893, there were 1,855.

Still 20 years further back, in 1851, Horace Greeley, on his trip to visit the Crystal Palace exhibition in London, gave testimony before a parliamentary committee on the state of the daily press of America. He said there were at that time about 250 daily papers in the United States, and that they circulated 1,000,000 copies a day in the aggregate. This astonished the English, for in all London at that time, owing to the stamp duty on paper, the circulation daily of all the journals together was only 60,000. What would Horace Greeley say today if he could suddenly come to life and find that one or two dailies in our large cities alone issue each 1,000,000 copies a week?

For Jan. 1, 1894, the figures are not at hand, yet even during the past year of disaster and panic it is certain that the number of newspapers has not fallen off any, though the individual circulation may have in some cases. The indications are that the number has increased somewhat. The table below will be examined with interest. It shows the increase in newspapers since 1871. It will be seen that although in 1872 the dailies fell off a little in number, even the hard times of 1873 could not stop the upward tendency. The list swelled moderately but steadily till 1879, when the daily paper took a bound forward. Previous to that the increase was in no case equal to 100 in one year. That was a phenomenal year, for the increase was 111. Then the rate dropped a little till 1883. Then it swelled rapidly. In 1888 the number of dailies added to the list was 116. The gain of 1891 over 1890 was 161.

It is to be said that the annual increase in the number of daily papers has been chiefly in the smaller cities of the country. The number of dailies in the large cities has not increased in proportion so much as the circulation of the individual papers already in existence.

One thing more is to be said too. It is that the character of the journal of the country and smaller city has improved incalculably in the last decade. The paper of the small city has at its command resources in the way of procuring news, literature, correspondence and miscellany unsurpassed by those of the great daily. These advantages the small daily and weekly have not been slow to avail themselves of to their own great profit.

The table showing the increase of the periodicals is given below. The last column includes monthlies and all periodical publications. It will be seen from the table that the triweekly newspaper is a rapidly vanishing quantity. The daily in the small city has probably killed it:

| Jan. 1— | Daily. | W'kly. | Semi-w'kly. | Tri-w'kly. | Total papers and periodicals. |

Those who clamor for the abolishment of the government agricultural stations do not know what these have done for the American farmer. It was an agricultural station that devised the spraying of fruit and potatoes with substances that destroyed the insect pests which would have ruined the crops. A government station professor developed the microbe that has routed the chinchbug out of the corn and wheat crops. Again, it is an agricultural professor who devised the Babcock milk test, saving at least $100,000 annually to progressive dairy and creamery men. These stations are now experimenting on the most economical way of fattening beeves and swine. They are trying what fruits and vegetables are best adapted to the new states. They are studying stables, cow stalls, plows, fastenings for animals, farm architecture, road building and tree planting, as well as irrigation in the arid states. Their conclusions are distributed in bulletins to the farmers of the country without money and without price.

The defeat of the Torrey bankruptcy bill in the lower house of congress leaves the nation just where it has been for a number of years—without any bankruptcy law. The bill was defeated partly by members who do not believe anybody ought to have the benefit of a bankruptcy law and partly by those who do not believe in the involuntary or compulsory bankruptcy for which the Torrey bill provided. The bill provided both the voluntary and involuntary bankruptcy features. Eastern merchants generally favored it. There is strong opposition, however, in many quarters to a law which will not let people do as they please about going into bankruptcy. It is not certain, however, that even without the involuntary bankruptcy feature the law could have been passed.

Along with assurances of our distinguished consideration we extend to the New Hampton (Ia.) Dairy Journal our heartfelt sympathy. The editor says: "Our readers will excuse all shortcomings in The Journal this week and last, for every one in the office, including the devil, has either undergone or is undergoing a severe attack of the grip, and any one while in its clutches takes little interest in anything that is occurring in this mundane sphere. Gewhillikins! Sneeze! cough! Judging from the look on our worthy spouse's face, there is also in her mind some language not strictly orthodox."

Cable dispatches announce that hundreds of "assisted" emigrants are leaving Russia for the United States. That, too, although Russia has hundreds of thousands of acres of land undeveloped and her manufactures are in a primitive state and scanty. If Russia were rightly governed she could find work and food for all these citizens at home. It is to be hoped the United States will never reach that point in the downhill road where she will try to get rid of her people.

BANKS AND BANKING.

The system of negotiating bills of exchange was first instituted by the Bank of Barcelona.

In 1861 the English system of savings banks was placed under parliamentary care and control.

The scheme of John Law in 1720 and 1721 was probably the most extraordinary financial swindle ever perpetrated on the banking public.

The first savings bank was instituted at Berne, in Switzerland, in 1787. It was intended for servants only. In 1792 another was opened at Basel for persons of any class.

The first bank in the United States was the Bank of North America, chartered by congress in 1780, by the state of Pennsylvania in the following year, with a capital of $1,000,000.

The amount of savings deposits in Austria is $610,000,000; in France, $750,000,000; in Great Britain, $558,000,000; in Prussia, $120,000,000; in Italy, $340,000,000; in Sweden and Norway, $220,000,000; in Switzerland, $119,000,000.

The panic of 1873 in this country was precipitated by overspeculation in railroad stocks. During the period of greatest excitement the Stock Exchange in New York was closed, many banks failed, and general distress prevailed.

In 1878 a check bank was opened for business in London. It suited the use of persons not having a bank deposit elsewhere, and issued checks for small amounts in order to insure greater safety in transmitting funds by mail and otherwise.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

FASHION'S FANCIES.

All sorts of variations of the mutton leg sleeve still prevail, although every dressmaker improvises her own most novel successes.

New opera wraps are of ermine in loose box shape, with very large sleeves of black, green or ruby velvet, with collarette to match, edged with fur.

Never were furs and fur trimmings in greater request. Some newly imported costumes of fine black India cloth are trimmed on bodice and sleeves with ermine fur.

Some of the new moires have a ribbed surface which does not preclude the introduction of satin dots, or the addition of floral and other patterns in chine effects, or stripes and bars of velvet.

The picturesque Venetian sleeve has a huge slashed puff at the top of the velvet, showing glimpses of contrasting color in satin, moire or brocade. The forearm fits like a glove and is laced from wrist to elbow.

Bonnets this winter are diminutive affairs indeed, and elderly women who seek in vain for a genuine protection for the head are obliged to take up with the simple round hats and have strings added to give them a bonnet effect.—New York Post.

RAILROAD TIES.

The Atchison has taken the unusual precaution of having a flagman constantly on the rear platform of every passenger train.

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific began last Sunday running a line of tourist sleeping cars to California in connection with the Texas and Pacific and Southern Pacific via Fort Worth.

In a quiet but none the less energetic manner the Memphis people have for three years past been pushing the work of practically rebuilding their grain line between Kansas City and Memphis.

Within the last 12 months the Baltimore and Ohio has added to its equipment 101 locomotives, the cost of which was nearly $1,000,000. The Baltimore and Ohio, with its southwestern terminus in St. Louis, is now fully identified as a St. Louis line.

STAGE GLINTS.

"The Masked Ball" company No. 2 closed its season in New Orleans.

Joseph Hart is writing a musical farce comedy, which he will call "The Family Tree."

Elaine Gryce is to take Juliette Corden's place in Thomas Q. Seabrooke's opera company.

J. K. Emmet has shelved "Fritz In Prosperity," the new play Sidney Rosenfeld wrote for him.

Rayman Moore is going starring in February in a new Irish comedy called "Love's Young Dream."

Murphy and Murray, "Our Irish Visitors," have again become partners and will soon start out in a new Celtic comedy.

Eugene Tompkins is contemplating a big Shakespearean revival for the next season at the Boston theater. "Henry V" is spoken of.

Washington is to have a new theater. A syndicate has been formed and will build at the southwest corner of Fourteenth street and New York avenue.

Mark Murphy is soon to start out again with "O'Dowd's Neighbors." Ryan and Jack Kelly, the ball player, will figure prominently in his support.

Here is a chance for the native dramatist. Leonard Boyne, who is going to star next season, wants a play on an American subject by an American author and is prepared to pay liberally for it.

Miss Lea Van Dyck, formerly of the Bostonians, has joined "The Little Tycoon" company. Miss Van Dyck, who is an excellent soprano, will head an operatic organization of her own next year.

"Mrs. Grundy, Jr.," which Charles Frohman's comedians will produce in Washington during Christmas week, is Clyde Fitch's adaptation of "Corrigan Versus Corrigan," which ran for over a year at the Cluny in Paris.

TURF PHILOSOPHY.

It is awful hard to own a balky horse and be a Christian at the same time.

To jog or not to jog—that is the question. Well, you know how it is yourself.

Theory is good, but practice beats it when it comes to mile heats, best three in five.

A horse, like a person, is handicapped to a certain extent throughout life by an inappropriate name.

The farmer breeder who cuts short the food supply of his colts is taking money from his own pockets.

As in everything else on the face of the earth, there is a great deal of difference between some of the bicycle sulkies.

The successful breeders are those alert to seize upon what others have demonstrated and utilize a winning combination.

Nothing is more applicable to the business of breeding trotters than the well worn adage, "Step by step the longest journeys are accomplished."

A brood mare that is a fast walker is a treasure on a farm. Not only will she transmit her quality to her colts, but she will train them by her example.

Few of the new accessions to the trotting ranks take the precaution to learn even the surface before beginning to buy. They buy first and learn afterward.

It is the breeder who was unfortunate enough not to have any winners in his stable this year who thinks the business has gone to the demnition bowwows.

It costs money to develop speed, and a man without money may own a colt which has inherent qualities to make a trotter, but in his hands the colt is destined to a life of obscurity.—Turf, Field and Farm.

SILVER NOVELTIES.

There are new pierced receptacles for Burgundy.

Pancake lifters are highly polished and without ornament.

Empire silver is used on the table of the artistic Mr. Whistler.

Spoons have shell edges, and silver gilt seems to be especially prominent.

Some magnificent cut glass bowls with silver mounts and heavy covers are for tobacco.

New smoking sets have a dull finish, with bands of mixed work. A set seen has a tobacco jar, and attached in four places to the body are small round receptacles for cigarettes and matches.

A coffee set has a modern Vienna machine, egg shaped, of dull finished silver. The sugar and creamer have covers with ivory knobs. The cups are new. These are of silver with handles and with the silver cut out and ivory inserted where the mouth touches the cup.

In carvers perhaps the most acceptable have ivory handles. These are solid, round, with silver mountings only at the end. Others have the angles inclosed in broken silver edges. The buckhorn handles have swelling curves and are mounted in silver.—Jewelers' Circular.

CHUNKS OF WISDOM.

Actions speak louder than words. The fragrance of a flower outlasts its beauty.

To do their work well is said to be the central passion of all men of true nobility.

An element of power necessary in every kind of work is quietness and evenness of spirit.

The earliest education is the most important, and this belongs unquestionably to women.

We cannot control the tongues of others, but a good life enables us to despise calumnies.

The desire of knowledge, like the thirst of riches, increases ever with the acquisition of it.

The more judgment a man has the slower and the more careful he will be to condemn.

The art of exalting lowliness and giving greatness to little things is one of the noblest functions of genius.—Montreal Star.

In Poetic.

She looked upon the pale, slender youth kneeling before her and was moved to pity. There was tender sympathy in her bearing as she told him she could never be his wife.

He heard her answer with a bowed head.

"May I," I asked shyly, when she had spoken, "propound to you one other question before I rise from my knees?"

"Yes."

His glittering eyes were fastened upon her face now.

"Have you"——

He was terribly earnest.

She shrieked as it dawned upon her that he was, after all, a chiropodist.

Spoiled His Calculations.

"Don't you like the room I gave you?" said the hotel clerk to the drummer from Cincinnati.

"Yes, the room's all right. What made you ask? Do I look worried?"

"To be frank, you do."

"Well, I am feeling rather uncomfortable. You see, I came over on the B. & O. and W. road."

"Got in late, I suppose."

"No, we got in on time, and now I have about 2½ hours on my hands that I don't know what to do with."—Washington Star.

A REAL POET.

But His Pa Didn't Want Him to Start In as Devil.

"Yes, sir," went on the gentleman from Cornstalkville as he drew up his pants and took a seat in the editor's office, "there hain't no use a-talkin. I've got one o' the smartest boys to hum ye ever seed, an I've come to town today with the sole object o' findin a place for him where he might have a chance to let his great, big usefulness inspiring."

"Indeed!" interrogated the editor wearily. "And in what channel does your son's talent run?"

"Oh, it's all to writin," came the answer; "all to writin. 'Pon my soul, it jes beats all the way that boy kin write. Why, sir, he's got yards an yards o' stuff writ out up to hum, an I'm swowked if he can't beat anything I ever heerd. He writes po'try, you know, an that's mighty hard to write. We've only had 'bout a dozen real poets, mind yer, so says the teacher to hum, an my boy's a-goin to make another one."

The editor gave a sigh and looked as if he would like to hear Gabriel sound the note that time was no more.

"Now, this here, as far as I kin remember," went on the hayseed visitor, scratching at his head, "is one of his pomes—pomes, mind yer, an my boy writ it:"

> "The trees wuz full of leafy leaves,
> The sun shone bright an fair,
> The birds wuz singin sweetly, an
> The wind blowed through the air.

"Now, what do ye think o' that? Don't that rhyme hansome? Well, my boy writ that, an he's got barrels more jes like it. Now, I've heerd as how some men make mighty big wages writin stuff fur papers, an I'm in town today to make arrangements fur my boy."

"Well," the poor editor managed to say, raising his eyebrows, "if you want your boy to enter a newspaper office, I think I can give him a job."

"That's the way to talk. What'll it be?"

"I can make him the 'devil.'"

"Devil! I s'pose that's one on a paper that jes writes stuff what makes people roar an keeps up the old Harry all the time, eh?"

"No; it is not that."

"Reckon it's one that prints the paper then?" not so hilariously.

"No."

"Well, what is it then, and how much'll be git?"

"Well, it's the position of one who is just learning the printing trade. He will be required to delve in grease, oil and ink, and his wages will be $3 a week."

"Hah!" exclaimed the farmer, jumping to his feet. "Delve in grease, oil and ink an git $3 a week! Why, you old baldheaded jackass, if my wife'd hear you say such a thing she'd fill yer mouth full o' smashed teeth. Delve in grease, oil and ink! Say, look-a-here! If you'll jes lay down that there pen an come out on the sidewalk, I'm gum dust if I won't scatter yer constitution over the hull o' creation. My son's a poet, he is, an you've insulted him. Ye kin jes scratch my name off yer book, for I'm smithered if I'd read a line in yer rotten old paper for $47!"

And the door banged after him.—Boston Courier.

His Conclusion.

When General Tom Thumb and his wife were on their return from their wedding tour in Europe, they stopped for a day or two at Hartford, but did not place themselves on exhibition.

There happened to be in Hartford at the time an old farmer from the neighborhood of Litchfield Hill, who heard that Tom Thumb was in the place and resolved that he would see him before he went home.

The farmer found his way to the hotel where Tom Thumb was stopping, and was told to go, if he wished to see him, to a certain room on the second floor and rap on the door.

The farmer went up and knocked, as he was bidden. But it happened that the room was occupied by a certain Colonel Jones, a prominent politician who lived in an adjoining county and who was a man of enormous stature, measuring almost 7 feet in height.

The colonel had already been rallied a little on the fact that his next door neighbor down the corridor was Tom Thumb, and when the visitor knocked at his door he was rather out of humor.

"Come in!" he called out.

The farmer opened the door and peered in.

"I'm a-lookin," he said, "for General Tom Thumb."

"Sir," said the colonel, raising himself to his full height, "you see him before you!"

"I want to know! Be you Tom Thumb?"

"Yes!"

"You don't say so!" said the farmer. "Waal, I guess you've growed some since you had your pictur' took, hain't ye!"—Youth's Companion.

Fight on a Locomotive.

Incompatibility of temper between an engine driver and a stoker very nearly brought about a disastrous railway accident. The two men had not been for some time on very good terms, and a violent quarrel broke out as they were conducting a train over a rather difficult line. High words were exchanged and then they came to blows, and a regular settle ensued in spite of the confined space which they had for this test of their proficiency in the noble art.

For some time the battle raged, while the train — abandoned to its own resources—sped onward with such velocity that the passengers, ignorant of the cause of its sudden elevation to the dignity of an express, began to entertain serious misgivings, while the country people, looking up from their labor in the fields and taking in the real situation at a glance, viewed its wild career with feelings akin to consternation. The train was rapidly approaching a station at which another one would soon be due, and unless its progress were promptly checked a terrible collision was a moral certainty.

Happily, just at the critical moment the engine driver and the stoker bethought themselves of the fearful catastrophe that was impending and, concluding a truce, they set to work with the utmost energy to arrest the lightning speed of the train. They were just in time, for in another moment they would have dashed headlong into the other train. The company, of course, got wind of the affair, and an investigation has been set on foot without delay.—Paris Correspondent.

Must a Mail Carrier Doff His Hat?

An interesting and novel point was raised in a peculiar manner in Kansas City recently. The question arising was, Is a United States postman in contempt of court when he refuses to take his hat off in a state court? The mail carrier entered the courtroom with his mailpouch slung over his shoulder and some letters in his hand. He advanced across the room and laid them on the clerk's desk.

The deputy sheriff rapped for order. The mail carrier walked toward the door and still kept on his hat. The deputy met him and told him to take his hat off; that he was in contempt of court. The man of letters replied that his cap was a part of the uniform which the federal government required him to wear while on duty; that he was there on duty, and there was no law to make him take it off. The deputy warned him that he could not enter the courtroom again with his hat on, and the matter was reported to the authorities in the federal building.—Washington Post.

Tennessee's Attractions.

There is a growing inquiry for farming lands in Tennessee. People are leaving the bleak northwest and seeking homes in other parts where the conditions of life are not so hard. Tennessee has extraordinary attractions, because of the variety of employment its natural resources afford. There are the mountains and the mines and the timber of east Tennessee, the unparalleled stock raising advantages of middle Tennessee and the cotton and fruit lands and forests of west Tennessee. Each one of these sections has an important manufacturing city of metropolitan characteristics. The railroads afford ample transportation facilities. The state is unique in the excellence of its waterways. No other state, except Arkansas, has as many beautiful and navigable streams which reach the greatest of the rivers of North America. The climate is perfect.—Memphis Appeal-Avalanche.

TENACITY OF LIFE.

Two Stories Illustrating Some Remarkable Examples of It.

"It is an astonishing thing how some species of animals will cling to life," said Longbow as he hesitated between the choice of a coffee berry and a clove. "I read in an authentic work a short time ago that an alligator will go on fighting for hours after the brain has been removed from its body."

"How long have you been studying natural history?" asked Whoppers, with a rapid but comprehensive survey of the free lunch table.

"Not long," answered Longbow. "But I was thinking of the extraordinary way a lobster I saw yesterday held on to his time on earth. I went into the Arcadia and ordered a broiled live lobster. After I had ordered it I told old Shuffles, the head waiter, that the last one I had was evidently boiled several days before it was broiled. 'Come with me,' he says, and took me into the kitchen. There stood the cook, with uplifted knife, over an enormous green bodied lobster that was frothing at the gills with passion. The knife came down, and Mr. Lob spread himself out in two equal divisions, but was livelier than ever.

"Two more blows severed the claws from the body, but each claw continued to gnash its teeth with rage. One caught hold of the knife and tried to get it away from the cook, but the blade was so sharp it had to let go. In another minute it was writhing on the silver grill with a vigor that would have shamed any one of Mr. Fox's most active martyrs. I thought the struggle would never end, but at last, with a deep sigh, he gave up the ghost, and as he did so blushed a rosy red with shame at what he thought his weakness."

"What'll y' have?" asked Whoppers tersely.

"Same," responded Longbow, a gleam of triumph in his eye.

"As you say," said Whoppers as he paid for the drinks, "lobsters are very tenacious of life. But they're not in it with eels."

"Is this another fish story?" asked Longbow cynically, but with a faint suspicion of approaching discomfiture.

"Well, I suppose an eel is a fish as much as a lobster," retorted Whoppers curtly. "But I was going to give you a specimen of what the eel can do in the clinging to life line.

"I was fishing for pike in Sloppy creek a couple of summers ago, and one day I pulled out the largest eel I ever saw in my life. I won't tell you how large he was, because if I did you might doubt the rest of it. He was not only big, he was athletic. He was the contortionist eel that ever sucked a bait off a hook. One minute he'd be pirouetting on the end of his tail, then he'd stand on his neck and go through all the evolutions of a skirt dancer with the rest of him. I had brought with me the biggest basket that I could find in Sloppyville, but, try as I would, I couldn't double that eel up and get him in the basket.

"Finally, when we'd both agreed on a breathing spell, I picked up an ax while he was resting and, with one blow, cut him clean in two. Do you think that quieted him? Not a bit of it. The two ends looked up at me with mingled hatred and reproach and before I could get the basket anywhere near them had jumped back into the creek. Now comes the most curious part of it. What do you suppose the consequence was?"

"I haven't the remotest idea," replied Longbow uneasily.

"Well, I'll tell you," said Whoppers in that impressive way of his that always made his friends squirm. "Subsequent investigation proved that the two ends of that eel married each other and raised a whole colony of bifurcated eelets!"

Longbow looked at Whoppers long and earnestly without uttering a word.

"Mine's whisky," suggested the latter, as he returned the look with a frank, ingenuous smile.—Ernest Graham Dewey in Life.

A PECULIAR CASE.

A Brain Transfer That Resulted in Assault and Battery.

The city editor of a newspaper which employs the services of an enterprising young man—a friend of mine—in a small amount asked him one day to investigate a strange story which had come down over the telephone from the Fourteenth Ward hospital. He gave the young man an order on the cashier for his car fare. Having exchanged that for 10 cents' worth of malt extract with a gentleman on William street, my friend walked up to the Fourteenth ward.

He passed his credentials in to the chief surgeon at the hospital and was admitted.

"What is this case you told us about?" he asked, borrowing the chief surgeon's knife to sharpen his pencil. "You haven't made a successful operation, have you?"

"Worse than that," replied the chief surgeon. "Infinitely worse. A young man named Brown was"——

"Got his first name?" queried the reporter.

"No. He was"——

"Age?"

"Didn't learn. He was brought in here a week ago"——

"Address?"

"Can't say. He was brought in here a week ago with a bad wound in his head. He had been struck by a brick which had fallen from a passing building, and"——

"A passing which?"

"A building which he was passing, and a part of his brain was missing. It looked like a pretty serious matter, and so I took hold of the case myself. We found that it would be necessary to supply the deficiency in brains. We have none to spare here, so—got that?"

"Yes."

"So we sent out. After awhile we found an Irishman who had been mortally wounded in a prize fight, and who had no further use for his brains. We operated on him and made the transfer. Our patient was an American, and he seemed to get along first rate until yesterday. Then he got up out of bed and assaulted his physicians, throwing four of them down stairs. He doesn't recognize his wife and claims that he, alone and unassisted, can lay out any seven men in the hospital if he is not molested by the police. He also speaks with a strong Irish accent and has gone back on his politics. He claims his name is Dolan."

The chief surgeon reached behind him for his handkerchief and wiped the perspiration off his face, with the air of a man whose confidence had been abused.

"How do you account for the change?" the reporter asked, recrossing his legs on the window sill.

"We don't account for it at all," the chief surgeon answered. "We find nothing in history like it, and only an autopsy will reveal the secret. I regret that we cannot perform an autopsy now. Will you have a cigar?"

"Thank you! But how is it that"——

A tremendous fall and a wild whoop of defiance from above stairs interrupted the reporter and caused the chief surgeon to rise and remove his coat.

"That's him," he said. "You'll have to excuse me for a few minutes. If I call you, I wish you'd come up to assist me; Teomeames"——

As the chief surgeon disappeared, the sound of a scuffle came from above, accompanied by the words:

"Tak' yer corner, ye bald headed mick—tak' yer corner, or I'll baste the face off yez!"—Puck.

My Matrimonial Views.

I will not wed a widower, to have my happy life
Tormented by the virtues of his "late, lamented wife."
I will not wed a bachelor, with heart of solid stone,
To spend his evenings at the club and leave me all alone.

I will not wed a millionaire, to be accused of crime,
If he should chance to pass away a bit before his time.
A poor man's wife I'll never be, to bake and stew and broil,
With half a dozen little ones to add to all my toil.

I will not wed a handsome man, a "sport" would not suit me—
They're bound to have another wife, and sometimes two or three.
A homely man is not my style—a "dude" I would detest—
I could not love a solemn man or one who's prone to jest.

I will not wed the man who seeks for years my love to gain;
The very slowness of his suit would always bring me pain.
I will not wed the man who claims to love me at first glance—
In fact, I will not wed at all until I get a chance.

—Brooklyn Life.

On a Lofty Honeymoon.

A young couple were married in Justice McNoble's courtroom recently. The justice forgot a very essential part of the ceremony—he neglected to inquire the names of the witnesses.

His honor did not notice the blunder for several minutes, and when the fact dawned upon him he seized his hat, rushed down the stairs, looked up and down the street and inquired of everybody he met if they had noticed a newly married couple around anywhere. Nobody had seen them.

Finally his honor turned his optics heavenward, as people in trouble sometimes do, and the experiment was successful. Sitting on the railing around the dome of the courthouse, enjoying their honeymoon, was the happy pair.—Stockton Mail.

Hungarian Railroad Tickets.

The "railway marks" invented by the Hungarian minister, Dr. Lukais, has been adopted by all Hungarian railways. In the future no traveler on Hungarian railways will be troubled to stand waiting at the ticket office for his ticket. He will be in a position to take out his ticket for himself. On a blank card he will write the name of the station from which he takes his departure and that of the station to which he means to go, and he will stick on to the remaining empty space on the card as many "railway marks" as his journey will cost. The blank cards will be obtainable at all tobacco shops.—London News.

Modern Philosophy.

Progress is only shifting ideas. Once our standard English play was "The School For Scandal," now it is "Charley's Aunt!" Once our type of a majestic figure was Minerva, now it is the fat, dumpy, little Queen Victoria. Once our model of beauty was the Venus de Medici, now it is Ada Rehan. Once our young men used to try to rival Hercules, now they play gambling games of football on Thanksgiving day.—Hallo.

Hands Off Rhodes.

The British possessions in South Africa have proved to be a source of immense wealth to the conquering race and to the country of which they are subjects. The Hon. Cecil Rhodes, premier of Cape Colony, is the dominating spirit of British South Africa. Not long ago he gave the home government to understand that he would strike for independence if interfered with.—New York Sun.

Well Earned.

At a meeting of the "Women's Auxiliary" in —— it was agreed that every member should contribute a sum, not less than $1, which she had earned especially for the purpose. The money was to be handed in at the next meeting of the auxiliary.

The time came, and the contributions were duly turned over to the treasurer. Some members brought $2 or $3, and the total amount was really handsome and encouraging. Then, of course, the good women fell to relating their experiences in earning the money.

One had done this and another that, but Mrs. Allen said nothing. Finally her next neighbor asked:

"How did you earn your contribution, Mrs. Allen?"

"I got Mr. Allen to give it to me."

"Oh! oh!" cried several voices at once, and young Mrs. Smith said: "Why, that wasn't according to the agreement! We were to earn the money ourselves. I shouldn't call it earning it if I got my husband to give it to me."

"Perhaps you wouldn't," said Mrs. Allen. "And then again perhaps you would if your husband was like some folks."

Nothing more was said. Mr. Allen's reputation was pretty well known, and it was tacitly agreed that Mrs. Allen had lived up to the spirit of her promise.—Youth's Companion.

Provided.

The eyes of the Senegambian matron sparkled.

"Oh, what a lovely feather boa!" she exclaimed. "You dear, good man!"

Sternly the husband disengaged himself from her embrace.

"Whenever," he austerely observed, "we are invited to functions in the future, I don't want to hear any more talk about not having a thing to wear."—Truth.

Made Her Cry.

Mrs. Newed—Here's a lovely necktie I've made you, love.

Newed—Why, my dear! How did you know I was going to the masquerade ball?—Puck.

ROUGH ON RATS.

A Young Wife Gives Her Old Husband a Dose.

Lisbon, Ala., Jan. 9.—James Rembert, a farmer, died here under very suspicious circumstances yesterday morning. A coroner's jury investigating the case this morning caused the arrest of Hannah Rembert, the deceased man's pretty young wife, and William Kellar, her alleged paramour. The dead man's stomach was found to contain a large quantity of Rough on Rats, which it was ascertained was given him in a dish of soup Sunday. The woman had previously been unsuccessful in an effort to secure a divorce and, the evidence shows, took the poisoning method at Kellar's suggestion.

Explained.

Miss Pinkerly—I passed by a candy store yesterday, but didn't go in.

Young Tutler—Why, how was that? I didn't suppose you ever could pass a candy store without going in.

RUN DOWN AND KILLED.

John Brandt Struck by a Train Near Bucyrus.

Accidents, Incidents and Personal Mentions as Gathered at the Different Shops.

John Brandt, a laborer who resides at Bucyrus, Ohio, was killed by eastbound passenger train, No. 2, on the Pittsburg road, at 11:45 o'clock last night. Brandt was walking east on the track, and at the bridge which spans Sandusky river, one-half mile west of the Bucyrus depot, he stepped from the north to the south track to allow freight train No. 71, going west, to pass. At the same time No. 2 was approaching rapidly from the west, but the man did not hear it, and ere he was aware of his danger the pilot caught him and killed him almost instantly. Brandt was a young man who gained a livelihood by doing odd jobs about Bucyrus. The remains were taken in charge by the coroner, and an inquest will be held today. No. 2 was in charge of Conductor A. G. Estry, with Engineer William Gates at the throttle. It is probable that the train crew will attend the inquest, but at 10 o'clock this morning they had not been summoned.

Master Mechanic F. A. Rider, of the Bass works, has returned from Chicago.

Nickel Plate Conductor J. S. Holley resumed his run yesterday after a short lay off.

L. Smith, janitor in the Pittsburg cabinet and pattern shops, is sick and off duty.

J. E. Meyers, boilermaker at the Wabash shops, is off duty on account of sickness.

C. J. Ruplo has returned to his work in the Wabash boiler shops after a sickness of three days.

Charles Lyons, night clerk at the Nickel Plate yard office, is off duty on account of sickness.

Mr. Lowe, master mechanic of the Toledo division of the Pennsylvania system, is in the city today.

A gang of Bass' boilermakers are engaged at the Hoffman mills in putting a new smoke stack in place.

William Driftmeyer came in off the road last evening. He is one of the Electric Light company's construction men.

J. P. Robinson, road foreman of engineers of one of the eastern branches of the Pennsylvania railroad, is in the city today.

The wages of employes on the Chicago and West Michigan road over the entire system have been restored to the former basis.

A 35 light Wood arc dynamo and 500-light Wood alternating machine left the electric light works this morning for Leroy, Ill.

The large steam excavating shovel which has been in service for some time on the new Wabash line, has been sent to this city for repairs.

The Great Northern has introduced on its sleeping cars the plan of leaving the upper berth up, unless occupied, where the lower berth is taken.

Grand Chief Sargent, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, is in Cincinnati, looking after matters in connection with the Queen and Crescent.

Conductor and Mrs. A. G. Estry, accompanied by their niece, Miss Alice Klingensmith, have returned from Callinsburg, Pa., where Mrs. Estry's mother resides.

John Meyers, who has been spending a vacation at Plymouth, Ind., has returned to the city and resumed his position in the winding room of the electric light works.

Mrs. Sauter, wife of the well known Grand Rapids conductor, is quite ill. Mr. Sauter has been unable to go out on his run for two weeks because of the illness of the lady.

Gen. John W. Sprague, who for thirteen years was in charge of the western division of the Northern Pacific, died at Tacoma last week, where he had lived for some years.

The Big Four is dropping some of its firemen and putting engineers back to firing. On the Michigan division of the system, which runs through Wabash, Ind., six firemen were thus let out.

Wabash Plain Dealer: "Master Mechanic C. H. Doebler, of the Big Four, spent Sunday in Fort Wayne. Mrs. Doebler is in that city, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Ward."

The Chesapeake and Ohio is now delivering to the Big Four, to go to the Northwest from Virginia mines, thirty to forty car loads of coal a day, and would bring more could the cars be had.

The following Nickel Plate brakemen who were on the absentee list reported yesterday: D. Franks, E. Rayhouser, C. W. Spangler, T. B. Lyons and J. R. Meyers. Brakeman F. Bailey has been granted a lay off.

Conductor and Mrs. F. P. Tremmell have returned to the city after a very pleasant visit with Mrs. Tremmell's brothers, Tony and John Luckey at Goshen, Ind. Mr. Tremmell will at once resume his run on the Pittsburg road.

Addison Day, a well known railroad man, both in the east and west, died at Rome, N. Y., last week, aged seventy. For some years he was a division superintendent on the Chicago and Rock Island, and was at one time on the St. Louis and Iron Mountain.

A change, effecting three of the clerks in the Pittsburg yards, took place yesterday. Charles Schmidt is now clerk in the office of Ward Kemp, of the lumber department; Frank Schell is timekeeper at the east car shop and James H. Hanley is clerk in T. J. Rodabaugh's office at the store room of the paint department. These gentlemen were simply changed from one department and all are better suited.

William H. Taft, who has been appointed superintendent of motive power of the Boston and Albany, began on that road as a fireman in 1862. In 1864 he was made an engineer, and since 1879 he has been master mechanic of the company's shops at Worcester, Mass.

The Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis company is making good progress in the extension of its New Cumberland branch, on the West Virginia side of the Ohio river, and will by the 1st of next month have its tracks completed to a point opposite Wellsville, Ohio.

It is said there are not over six days' stock of coal in the northwest, and that were there to be severe cold weather the roads would be taxed to their utmost capacity to prevent suffering at points on their lines. Usually the dealers carry a month's stock, at least, but this season money is so scarce that they have not laid in their usual supply.

Dr. M. Moore, general utility man of Harry Crawford, sr., has gone to work again securing the right of way between Anderson and Muncie for extending the Chicago and Southeastern road. Salem, Munroe and Center townships are to be asked to vote aid to the project, and if they do Mr. Moore promises the road shall be completed to Muncie by the 1st of July.

Three young men of Huntington stole a ride on the west-bound Wabash train No. 43 from Huntington to Andrews last Sunday. At the latter place they concluded that the conductor had become aware of their presence and when that worthy started in their direction they sprang from the car while the train was running rapidly. They were considerably bruised and their clothing badly torn.

The condition of the two sick Pittsburg passenger conductors—John P. Kane and L. M. Blakesley—is a little more encouraging today. Mr. Kane is a very sick man, however. Last Sunday his attendants thought he could not live through the day, but he rallied and is now resting much easier. He suffers with congestion of the lungs and heart trouble. Mr. Blakesley's ailment is in the nature of asthma accompanied by stomach trouble. He cannot sleep in a reclining position and what rest he gets must be taken sitting up.

Workmen are now engaged in putting a temporary bridge under the old West Main street bridge, preparatory to removing that structure two squares down the river, where abutments, at the foot of Superior street, have already been erected. Though a light affair in comparison to the large and handsome bridge now spanning the St. Mary's on Main street, the old bridge is a good one and more people and heavily laden carriages and wagons have passed over it during the past fifteen years than any other bridge in northern Indiana.

John Collins, an employe of the Pittsburg machine shop, is lying in a critical condition at his home, 177 Hanna street. Yesterday afternoon while at work, Mr. Collins was suddenly stricken with paralysis and has lost control of the muscles of his left arm, leg and body. He retained consciousness and was able to speak, but could not stand unsupported. He was removed to his home in a hack and medical aid was immediately summoned. Mr. Collins is not a very old man, has always had good health and it is probable that he will recover from his present sad condition.

About a year ago I took a violent attack of la grippe. I coughed day and night for about six weeks; my wife then suggested that I try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. At first I could see no difference, but still kept taking it and soon found that it was what I needed. If I got no relief from one dose I took another, and it was only a few days until I was free from the cough. I think people in general ought to know the value of this remedy, and I take pleasure in acknowledging the benefit I have received from it. Rev. T. C. Reade, president of Taylor university, was in the city today. He reports that the university in its new quarters at Upland is very flourishing. The new and beautiful building, which is now nearly finished, will, with its grounds, be worth $30,000. The winter term has just opened with eighty pupils in attendance.

Last evening Darius Council Princes of Jerusalem held their annual election of officers which resulted as follows: E. S. P. G. M., G. M. Dawson; E. Dp. G. M., R. S. Robertson; E. senior warden, J. W. Hayden; E. junior warden, Robert Liggett; E. grand treasurer, G. W. Pixley; E. secretary, C. B. Fitch; Val. G. M. of C., J. M. Barrett; Val. grand almoner, C. R. Higgins; Val. Capt. guard, J. C. Craig; Val. sentinel, M. Tengarden.

The meeting last night of Fort Wayne lodge No. 116, K. of P., was one of genuine enjoyment to every member present. The occasion was the installation of officers, and an excellent literary and musical program was rendered. M. C. Stanton, P. C., was installing officer, and the ritualistic work was finely performed and was interesting to the many who had never before witnessed it. A prominent feature of the evening was the presence of Hon. J. M. Hatfield, of Huntington, grand vice chancellor of the state, who arrived on the 7:10 p. m. train. He delivered a most interesting address on Pythianism—its origin, teachings and practice.

DERVISHES DEFEATED.

Four Thousand of Their Soldiers Killed in the Battle.

MASSOWAH, Jan. 10.—Later dispatches received here from Kassala confirm the previous accounts of the battle recently fought between the Italian troops and the Dervishes. It is now stated that the latter left 1,000 dead upon the field and that, in addition, the leader of the Dervishes, Hamed Ali, and all his emirs were killed. The Dervishes are said to be much discouraged at their defeat and serious dissensions are reported to exist among their chiefs.

WANT THE FIGHT.

Deadwood Bids for the Corbett-Mitchell Slugging Match.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 10.—The Journal's Deadwood, S. D., special says that the Deadwood Athletic club last night decided to offer a purse of $30,000 for the Corbett-Mitchell fight. The club means business and if the offer is accepted will construct a pavillion to accommodate 12,000 people. Patsy Corr, Hare Ferguson and Sam Schwartzund, wealthy Deadwood sports, are backing the club.

THE MUSIC IN OUR BLOCK.

BY LURENA W. SHELDON.

I have heard the cheers of nations over emblems and orations,
I have heard the yells of brokers in their hubbub on Exchange;
I have tarried at camp meetings, 'mid Amens and loud entreatings,
And have listened to the war cry of big Injuns at short range.

I have walked where snorers slumbered, lived with lunatics unnumbered,
And have listened to the ocean as it lashed a shore of rock;
But these noises altogether, made by man and beast and weather,
Are as nothing to the racket every day within our block.

There are kids of all dimensions, screeching, yelling their intentions;
There are women bawling madly from the windows to the same;
There are scissors grinders ringing, there are would be artists singing,
And the boarding house pianos would put bedlam quite to shame.

There are trucks forever rolling, there are feet forever strolling;
There are rag men shrilly calling with a never ceasing zest,
But the huckster with his apples, cauliflower and cabbage, grapples
For the foremost place of honor, and proceeds to down the rest.
—New York Sun.

John Strawbridge, '95, has been elected captain of Trinity College foot ball eleven for 1894.

"During the epidemic of la grippe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy took the lead here and was much better liked than other cough medicine." H. M. Bangs, druggist, Chatsworth, Ill. The grip is much the same as a very severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. This remedy is prompt and effectual and will prevent any tendency of the disease toward pneumonia. ## THUGS AND FOOTPADS

THEY ARE NOW ABROAD IN EVERY CITY.

HINTS AS TO HOW TO RECEIVE THEM.

When Out at Night Men Should Be Prepared for Assaults from This Class of Gentry—How to Knock Down a Robber.

CHICAGO HAS been having such a time with thugs that her citizens are studying the arts of slugging, slungshotting, knocking-out, garroting, sandbagging, holding up and assault and battery in self-defense themselves. Most people are agreed that it is well for men to know how to box according to recognized pugilistic rules. Such skill may come in handy when footpads make too free. It is better, however, for a man to know how to protect himself in a "rough and tumble fight," but best of all is the ability to offer suitable defense when assaulted with a chair, or worse yet, with a knife. Such blows may be easily warded and the assailant overcome, if one will read and learn. In the free fight "everything goes," and a citizen is liable to find himself embroiled in such a disturbance at any time. The attack of the midnight marauder and his sandbagging and garroting friends, bent upon their errand of plunder or murder, is also not uncommon. The assault of the tough, whose glory and pastime consists in beating inoffensive citizens, is often heard of and seen. When away from "der gang" he has the heart of a mouse, but when backed up by and with his friends he is very brave and seeks to keep up his unenviable notoriety as a bruiser and "knocker out." The knowledge of how to protect one's self when such individuals are met should be in the possession of all, and no one should hesitate to use his knowledge on characters of this kind.

A good guard for the protection of one's self from an assault with a chair, cane or any attempt to hit you over the head with any weapon is that shown in figure 1. The cut is almost all the explanation needed. As soon as the weapon—stick, chair or blackjack—is raised to strike, close in, throw your left hand up to ward off the blow and catch the full force of it on your arm. The quicker this is done the less force the blow will have, as your closing in breaks its force and keeps your assailant from breaking down your guard and landing on your head. Use the left arm at an angle, so that the blow will glide off at the elbow, landing with an upward or side movement under the chin.

Sometimes it is a knife your opponent has, and then you can use a "throw," shown in figure 3, although the movement in figure 1 might also be used. A man with a knife and the determination of making you a fit subject for a surgical operation is no pleasant picture, and is likely to cause what is known as "heart failure," or, in other words, complete loss of nerve and an overwhelming desire to go somewhere and go quickly. Still, he can be disarmed if you are cool and quick. Remember that if you should turn to run away, you are likely to be cut, and that you are also at a disadvantage should he strike at your back. So, even if you are in fear, meet him face to face, with your eyes looking into his. Jump quickly forward, catching his right wrist with your left hand, shoving the knife from you and to your left side, above your head. Place your right foot forward so that you will be nearly back to back with him, and having your body slightly inclined toward your left. Grasp his throat with your right hand, choking at the same time, and force him backward over your hip and leg to the ground. In this position you will be able, as soon as he falls, to fall upon him yourself, driving your right knee into his throat or face, and thus choking him into dropping his knife. Never, under any circumstances, let go of his right wrist.

Figure 3 shows an overhead throw that can be used in case of attack. It causes a very severe fall, and is likely to result in a broken limb or head. It is accomplished in this manner: Catch your opponent's left wrist with your left hand, and, throwing his arm over your right shoulder, pull his arm around your neck and to your left side with your left hand. Step forward with the right foot, which will throw your right shoulder against his stomach or breast. Put your right arm between his legs and around his right leg. Then give a quick pull with your left hand, lifting his body with your shoulder and arm. The movement will throw him clear over your shoulders. Do the work quickly and he will go over your shoulders, landing on his head some distance from you. The heavier the man is the harder he falls. One of the advantages of this throw is that a man of light weight can throw a heavy man with ease and celerity.

Like everything else, to be successfully accomplished these things must be practiced until they are familiar, and should the circumstances be such that you could not use one, use another. Take for example an attempt to stab with a knife. If you should rush in quickly you would be able to use the guard for a stick or chair, as shown in figure 1. The hand grasping the knife has to pause momentarily in coming in contact with your left arm used as a guard, and by getting up rather close to him you can easily hit him with your right, or catch his hand and throw him over your shoulder, as shown in figure 3. In fact, the various guards shown can be used in almost any combination of blows or style of attack, and if the position is such that one can not be used, work another. Familiarize yourself with these movements. If attacked keep cool, don't be scared and hit hard and quick. Never start a "fuss," but after getting in it do your best, for your life may depend on it.

ON A LONELY ROAD.

An Ohio Girl Turns Up Missing and Murder Is Suspected.

The strange disappearance of a young girl, under circumstances which suggest an awful crime, is agitating the farm community known as the Peterson neighborhood, a few miles south of Xenia, Ohio. Miss May Burba, 18 years of age, daughter of James Burba, a farmer, went to Xenia some weeks ago to visit with her sister, who lives with the family of Judge J. E. Hawes. She staid until last week, when she started to walk home, a distance of four miles. Her sisters, one living with the family of Mr. Mark Chamblisa and one with Judge Hawes, went with her as far as Union church, about one mile out, where she was cautioned to not attempt to get across Caesar creek, except by the bridge, which is approached by rather a lonely road. Since this parting nothing of the young girl has been seen or heard. The neighborhood is being searched for her body by a large number of men, it being thought that she may have been foully dealt with by tramps.

Killed the Mayor.

E. C. Williamson, mayor of Hazelhurst, Miss., was brutally murdered by Kirby Miller the other day. It appears that Miller had been arrested, tried and convicted by Hamson a few months ago. Miller slipped up on Williamson and struck him on the head with a stick about the size of a baseball bat. Williamson fell to the ground lifeless, but Miller, not satisfied, struck him a second time on the neck and then began to stamp him. J. Horton, a brother-in-law of Miller, has been arrested as an accessory. The people of Hazelhurst are wild with indignation.

Burned by a Fiend.

A. Agilar of Los Angeles, Cal., a man whose wife recently secured a divorce on the ground of cruelty, killed the woman last week. Agilar went to the house where the woman was staying, and when she refused to see him followed her out into the back yard, carrying a quart bottle of kerosene. He broke the neck off the bottle, and, after applying a match, ran to the woman, seized her, and poured the burning liquid upon her head and clothing and fled. Before the neighbors could extinguish the flames Mrs. Agilar was burned to death.

The Change of Life.

Women nearing this critical period require strength, health, and cheerful spirits.

A NEW PROPOSITION!

A special arrangement has been made by "The Sentinel with the publishers of "SIGHTS AND SCENES OF THE WORLD," which is as follows: The demand for back numbers of these portfolios has been remarkable, and it seems as if each new part that was issued but served to advertise more widely the preceding ones. Bargains always advertise themselves, and this is the winter that the great public is looking for just such a bargain as these remarkable portfolios of pictures which we are now offering The publishers of this great work write us that, owing to the unprecedented demand, they have greatly increased their entire force concentrated upon this series, and are

WORKING DAY AND NIGHT.

This will allow them to catch up with the orders and furnish all issues on demand. We can, therefore, from this date, supply any back number already published at the same rate as new issues, which is upon receipt of three coupons cut from this paper, and ten cents.

We know this will be a very popular move. The rush for these portfolios has been unprecedented in the history of newspaper premiums, and nothing like it was ever before dreamed of; yet thousands have delayed sending for the first parts, and having neglected this, have given up the idea of securing the full set, thinking that it was too late to get the first issues. For such this is

THE GREAT OPPORTUNITY

And it should be taken advantage of without delay. Order up the five parts already issued as soon as possible, and lay the foundation for securing the complete work and you will never regret it. It is more value for the money than you ever received before.

For the benefit of those who may not have seen the previous announcements, we will state again the full particulars of

The "Sentinel's" Great Offer.

SIGHTS AND SCENES OF THE WORLD is the title of a series of magnificent portfolios of photographic views. The complete work will consist of 320 views, 11x13 inches in size, selected from all the most noted places and peoples of the earth. These are divided into twenty parts, each containing sixteen views. Every view is accompanied by a short but very complete description, giving all Points of interest. One part is issued each week, and can be obtained by sending three of the art coupons which appear in this paper each day, and ten cents in coin to the Coupon Department of the "Sentinel." The ten cents barely pays the cost of postage, packing and clerk-hire. The parts will be sent by mail, postpaid, and securely packed. The coupons now running call for part six, but any back number can be obtained for three coupons and 10 cents, and we publish a coupon each day, so that our readers can obtain back numbers or extra copies as they desire.

To see these portfolios is to praise them, and you will do your friends a favor if you tell them of this offer and of the fact that they can only be obtained in this way, as the "Sentinel," always alive to the importance of obtaining the very best things for its readers, has secured the exclusive control of this most attractive novelty. They cannot be bought at any store in the world. They are only for the "Sentinel's" readers.

WM. HAVENS KILLED.

A Fort Wayne Man Meets Death at Philadelphia.

Sad News Received in This City at Noon Today—The Particulars Are Very Meagre.

Word reached this city at noon today from Philadelphia of the death by accident of William Havens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Havens, of No. 53 Maumee avenue, this city.

The deceased was an electrician, and at one time worked as a lineman for the telephone company of this city. Later he went to Muncie, Ind., and from there to Philadelphia.

The telegram received by Mr. and Mrs. Havens did not state how their son had met his death, but it is presumed the accident was either a fall or an electric shock.

The deceased was about forty years of age, married, and had one child, a daughter. He leaves besides his parents two sisters, Miss Tillie and Mrs. Will D. Kyle, and Frankland Ike, the latter being employed as a salesman for McDonald, Watt & Will.

IN THE CISTERN.

The Child of George Krock Narrowly Escapes Drowning.

The Mother Misses Her Darling and Learns of His Whereabouts Just In Time to Save His Life.

At noon today the two year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Krock, of 384 East Wayne street, fell into the cistern, which was left open, and came near being drowned. Luckily Mrs. Krock missed the little one soon after he disappeared, and rushing to the cistern, saw the child as the waters closed over him perhaps for the first time. Help immediately arrived and the boy was taken out apparently dead. Dr. Greenawalt was summoned and succeeded in resuscitating him, and at 3 o'clock the little fellow was in a fair way to recovery. The father is an employe of the east car shops.

PETITION TO VACATE ALLEY.

The undersigned freeholders of the city of Fort Wayne pray that the alley of said city running south from Wayne street to first alley running east and west between Wayne and Washington between Hanna street and Francis street be vacated for the following reasons:

That there is a good east and west alley between Hanna and Francis street between Wayne and Washington streets.

That the alley is narrow and useless for public purposes.

That it has been the policy of the city to close north and south alleys and maintain in good condition east and west alleys.

That no one will be affected by the closing of said alley aside from petitioners.

They also herewith file a plat of so much of said alley as it is proposed to vacate showing the surrounding locality.

Mrs. A. K. Wheelock,

MAJORITY REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC GROUNDS AND BUILDINGS.

We your committee on public grounds and buildings to whom was referred the petition of the Fort Wayne Rifles, Wayne True Blues and others asking the council for the privilege to use the upper hall in the city building for an armory, will report as follows: A petition was presented to the city council, by the Trades and Labor council, June 27, 1893, asking the same privilege, but was refused by this council on the ground that the hall should be used for public meetings only, and this committee believes that all should be treated alike, and therefore report adverse to said petitioners.

Ph. Keinz,
W. D. Meyer,
Committee.

MINORITY REPORT.

On the petition of the Wayne True Blues and the Fort Wayne Rifles, asking the council for a privilege to use the upper hall in the city building for an armory. Considering that they in their application offer to yield to any other meeting of a public nature at any time, and also agree to pay for light and the cleaning up of the hall after their using it, under these conditions I will report in favor of granting their request.

W. L. Pettit,
Committee public grounds and buildings.

The motion to concur in the majority report was amended that the minority report be substituted for the majority report.

REPORT OF CLERK AND CHIEF OF POLICE.

I respectfully report that the electric lights were found out burning 100 hours during the month of December, 1893.

Frank Wilkinson, chief of police.

I respectfully report that I have deducted from the electric light company's bill for the month of December, 1893, $6.00, 100 hours at 6 cents per hour, leaving a balance of $2,054.21 due the Electric Light company, which I paid, the bill being certified to as correct by the committee on street lights.

Rudy C. Reinewald, city clerk.

Referred to committee on street lights.

REPORT CITY CLERK.

I respectfully report that I have collected as fees for the month of December, 1893, as follows:

|---|---|
| For licenses issued | $52 00 |
| For building permits | 3 00 |
| Total | $55 00 |

I have turned the same into the city treasury and hold the treasurer's receipt for same.

Rudy C. Reinewald, city clerk.

Referred to committee on finance.

REPORT OF CITY CLERK.

I herewith report the following affidavits now on file in my office for the collection of sewer assessments by precept, to-wit:

Anton Illes vs. Jacob M. Kayser..........$18 25

Rudy C. Reinewald, city clerk.

Granted.

REPORT OF CITY CLERK.

I would respectfully report to your honorable body that on the 28th day of November last I read the contract of the La France Fire Engine company, concerning the purchase of three fire engines, which was on motion referred to the mayor with power to act, and that after the next meeting of the council the contract was filed in my office by the mayor, Mayor Zollinger, the same being properly signed by W. Fauk, general agent for the above company, and by C. A. Zollinger, mayor for the city, and I herewith submit the contract for your approval.

Rudy C. Reinewald, city clerk.

Received and filed and contract and bond approved.

REPORT OF STREET COMMISSIONER.

I wish to report that I have collected from F. Cole the sum of $2.50 for repairing trench in on Tenth ward sewer for which I hold the treasurer's receipt.
